

Find great encouragement by reading the entire New Testament in the first three months of 2021!

Connect with hundreds of others as we commit to reading the entire New Testament in the first three months of 2021! Reading the entire New Testament in three months will be so easy when you follow this handy guide. Finish the entire New Testament by Resurrection Day 2021 by reading it in only a few minutes every day.

This guide breaks down the entire New Testament into weekly readings, rather than daily. While daily Bible reading is certainly recommended, trying to follow a daily guide can be discouraging. Miss a couple of days and you've got a lot to catch up. Soon, you're so far behind that you just give up! However, following a weekly guide eliminates that. You've got an entire week to read the portion to stay on track!

A few things to notice as you begin. First, the guide is provided below, so you can separate it from this flier and use it as a bookmark in your New Testament.

Second, the earlier readings are longer than later. It is natural that when we commit to something, we begin with great enthusiasm, then taper off as the weeks go by. This guide follows that human tendency, beginning with Matthew and Mark in the first week, and tapering off, so by Resurrection Day 2021, we will be taking two weeks to read Revelation. That's also a good thing, since Revelation is a little bit heavier read than say, the Gospel of John.

Third, pick a version easy for you to understand. You might even choose to read the New Testament this time in a version different from the one you normally use. Sometimes reading something in a different light helps us to see things we never saw before.

Fourth, commit to starting early in the week. If you read a lot already, put the other things aside until you have completed that week's reading.

Finally, share this with friends, family, members of your church or small group, and of course, with your pastor. Ask them to join our Facebook group at <https://www.facebook.com/ReadNTin3Months/> –it's not necessary, of course, but will help us track the success of this project. Permission is granted to make and hand out as many copies of this as you can! Think what blessings God will pour out on us if we have several hundred thousand reading the New Testament as we begin 2021!

May God richly bless you as you open His Word to discover wonderful truths!
